COURSE DATES

Bear Patrol Corner

Today everyone woke up early for the training that happens every one or two years. The eight of us were separated into two patrols. Our patrol was Gau. We learned about leader's roles, vision, scouting spirit, lien doan system and the methods of scouting. After we learned about these things, we had an activity with five questions.

Surprisingly everyone got all of the five questions correct. Once we finished we talked about master and servant leadership. Servants are humble and masters are bossy, but you should have a leader that has both of these qualities. All in all, everyone had a great time at the leadership training.

Eagle Patrol Nest

This week's lesson was full of new information, and I learned many new things. One topic I mostly enjoyed was the Servant and Master types of leaders. It was pretty funny of the act that Thanh and Nam Nguyen did. Kylan thought that the beginning of the lesson was mostly easy. Thanh enjoys being the patrol leader of our eagle patrol, and Nam Ngo liked the quizzes. Overall, this lesson was information packed and we can't wait for next week.

Junior Leaders Training 2017 Week 1 In Review

Training Staff Taking Oath

The Scoutmaster Opening the Training Course

JLT Participants Focusing on the Lesson

Bright and early on March 12, 2017 members of Troop 285 gathered to begin a 3 week Junior Leaders Training program. The program will include 3 weeks of instruction from the training staff with wide ranging topics such as Troop Organization, Communication, and Team Characteristics, culminating in an outdoor activity in May.

Week 1 included instruction from Truong Than and Truong Trinh on Troop Organization and Leadership Styles. It is important to know the structure of the organization that you belong to and how you fit into the "big picture." Leadership Styles help to define these young leaders as they develop their own leadership style.
